EXTEND TIME OF ULTIMATUM TO RUSSIANS

Britain Decides to Allow More Time for Discussion With Soviet Representative on Disputed Points

NO BREAK CONTEMPLATED AT THE PRESENT SAYS McNEILL

Foreign Secretary's Statement Takes Away Labor Weapon Against Government

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—The government's announcement that Great Britain had decided to extend the time limit of the ultimatum to Russia pending discussions between Lord Curzon and Leonid Krassin over the disputed points, relieved the parliamentary situation Tuesday to the extent that the opposition did not demand a division at the close of the debate.

Mr. McNeill announced on behalf of the government that Foreign Secretary Curzon was prepared to enter into discussions with Mr. Krassin and that in order to enable the latter to communicate with his government in Moscow, the time limit mentioned in the British ultimatum to the Soviets would be extended. Mr. McNeill added that the British would be satisfied with anything less than complete agreement with their demands.

Former Premier Lloyd George expressed satisfaction with the announcement and said he thought the government had taken a wise decision. The government's concession, he said, was the step out of the subsequent debate, in which Mr. Lloyd George predicted hearty laughter by declaring that Mr. Lloyd George, the Soviet foreign minister, was not a revolutionary in the commonly accepted use of the term, but was really "a great and able statesman."

FARMERS ASK STATE PERMISSION TO RUN THEIR OWN RAILROAD

Settlers Propose to Finance Operation in Order to Keep Short Line Road Running

MADISON, Wis.—Farmers of Clark county will soon control and operate their own railroad at their own expense if the legislature gives its consent.

The unique venture of settlers into the transportation business is prompted by the necessity to keep in operation the Fairchild & Northwestern railroad, which cuts through the county and connects with larger roads.

Before the war the state advertised the county as an ideal location for settlers. The railroad which extends for 45 miles was one of the features.

Then came the government ownership of the roads and for nine months operation of the branch line was stopped. Owners of the road now contend that they cannot afford to keep the road going and settlers join in taxing themselves to pay operating expenses.

Under the agreement by officials of the road and settlers the latter would lease the road at a dollar a year and would operate it during the next three or four years when it is felt that the country would be well enough settled to make the road pay its own way.

CHICAGO. Miss Muriel McCormick, daughter of Harold P. McCormick, and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, who caused a surprised comment in society circles when she opened a women's smart wear shop here, is preparing to abandon the project.

A final clearance sale of gowns and wraps was announced at her shop in preparation for the closing of its doors.

It is understood that Miss McCormick, who is studying diligently for opera, has no time for other interests.

NEW ARMY SEAPLANE GOES 120 MILES AN HOUR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An average speed of 120 miles an hour from Mitchell field, New York, to Fausch field, Virginia, was recorded on Monday by Lieut. Charles B. Auston, flying a new type army seaplane and carrying two passengers. The 300-mile airplane trip was made in two and a half hours, the war department announced, the ship being helped part of the way by a fifteen mile favoring breeze.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid soap, apply it at night when retiring, use enough to loosen the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be softer, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and it never fails to do the work.

IRISH PRISONER IN LONDON FREED ON COURT ORDER

O'Brien Again Taken into Custody After Discharge by the Court

LONDON, May 15.—The Associated Press.—The court of appeals Wednesday ordered the release of Art O'Brien, who was reported to Ireland after being arrested in the March roundup of republican sympathizers. O'Brien was brought before the court on a writ of habeas corpus.

Upon his discharge by the court O'Brien was immediately taken into custody by officers from Scotland Yard and was removed to Bow Street.

O'Brien twice made unsuccessful application for a writ of habeas corpus but on May 9 the court of appeal in London decided that the writ should be granted. The Irish Free State government, after taking the position that Ireland's prisoners were her own, ultimately abandoned that attitude and O'Brien was sent back to England.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, May 15:

The weather of the week was too cold and dry for satisfactory germination or growth. There was freezing temperature or killing frost on three nights over practically the entire state, but the damage was slight and was confined mainly to some fruits and berries on lowlands in southern counties and to some early corn. A rain which was beneficial in southern sections fell Monday in some southern localities, and our night; in central and northern counties it was light and more rain is needed. Higher temperatures are needed generally, and badly in eastern counties. The seedling of oats, barley and spring wheat is nearing completion in central and western sections, and the planting of corn has begun. The preparation of ground for corn is general, and the planting of potatoes, truck and sugar beets is well under way. Tobacco is mostly planted in beds and much of it is up. Winter wheat is fair, and rye fair to good. In most sections meadows and pastures are decidedly backward. Cranberries are still dormant. Chickens, a rain which was beneficial in southern sections fell Monday in some southern localities, and our

Can Fresh Pineapples Now!

This is the time to can pineapples at home. They are cheap now during the height of the season. The season is short, so don't delay.

Beautiful, big, sweet, golden-brown pineapples are arriving every day by fast steamers from Cuba. For this is pineapple time in the West Indies. The finest pineapples grown come from Cuba where soil fertility and rainfall unite in growing these delicious fruits to rare perfection.

Canning pineapples is simple. Prepare them as shown here, the Cuban housewives do it.

Run the cores and peels through the chopper to extract all the juice. Strain and add this to the syrup the fruit cooks in.

Place the cut up fruit in a preserving kettle and cover with water, sweetened with cane sugar, to which you have added the fruit juice.

Cook slowly until moderately soft. Fill jars with the cooked fruit, pour enough syrup from the cooking to cover, then seal tightly while still hot.

Pineapple, canned this way, is superior to the commercial canned fruit. It has more of the taste of fresh fruit.

How to Prepare Fresh Pineapple

1. Grasp the pineapple firmly in one hand, then take hold of foliage with the other hand and twist it off.
2. Now slice the fruit across in thick slices not less than three-quarters of an inch thick.
3. Put a slice on a plate. Then run a sharp knife around the edge of the slice, inside the peel. It then comes off, with eyes easily.
4. Cut across the slice as shown in diagram, four cuts, one on each side of the core. The core will be cut without any waste.

Lost Trails

THE finest pavement in the world—a Roman road built centuries ago—is discovered four feet under the earth's surface at Colchester, England. This superb highway was put together by the tessellated or checker-board system, like the mosaic patterns of tiles inlaid in many colors as flooring for modern bathrooms, building entrances, etc. The design is worked out in seven colors. The tiles in places are arranged to form dragons, bulls, flowers and dolphins. It starts you thinking about the glories of lost civilizations. Grim, but a trifle more interesting, is a skeleton found on top of this ancient pavement in England. The bones of a young woman. Why was she left there? One picture a speeding chariot, knocking her down, the driver galloping his horses ahead without stopping.

If you ever visit Peru and explore what remains of the wonderful Inca civilization destroyed by Spanish conquerors, the Inca roads would impress you most—particularly if you drive a car. One of these roads was nearly 2000 miles long. Twenty feet wide, it stretches over the mountains, practically as good today as when it was built centuries ago. First the Inca road makers laid down huge slabs of stone. They covered this with a thick coating of bituminous cement. Time has hardened this cement into solid rock.

Describing this road, Charles J. Finger says in his book, "Lost Civilizations":

I recall the great stone road of the vanished people, perfectly level or gently sloping, leagues of long rock being cut for its passage, ravines filled with solid masonry, and bridges carved. Nor was the road left a mere mechanical triumph. On either side there were embankments, riprapped with stone, and trees and flowers were planted.

The good roads movement started when barbarians began clearing trails through the dense jungles. Civilization has always been spurred or held back to great extent by highway conditions. And this is true now more than ever before, because congestion of population requires adequate arteries of traffic. Our good roads movement is making rapid strides. It is really amazing when you compare with the dirt pavements of only 20 years ago.

When our civilization lies buried under the ground, future excavators may not think much of us as they unearth some of the "bum" pavements we have laid. However, while we do not build our roads with the permanence of the Romans and Incas, possibly this is because we intuitively feel that it will not be many years until most of our travel will be by airplane with the "roads" in the air.

However, at this moment "lost trails" have a message for us in addition to that which says that all civilizations have found road-making a prime essential. It is the message which relates that civilizations have come and gone, buried under the dust and debris of centuries. This admonishes us that our civilization, too, may pass into oblivion. And so we are interested in knowing what has destroyed the civilizations of the past. It may be said that it was moral decay, or lack of religion, but these are merely the things that go with destruction. In every case the proximate cause is war—war that rose out of irreligion and depravity and greed.

And so the first step in arresting the decay of civilization is to take away that which strikes the fatal blow, the thing which is the culmination of all human evils. Unless we shall do away with war, in future centuries some newer civilization will unearth the highways which to them will disclose the way we went to our undoing under the red light of Mars.

Fish

TEN THOUSAND fishes, each with a metal tag attached, are turned loose in the ocean by Uncle Sam's Bureau of Fisheries. A reward of 25 cents apiece will be paid for the return of these tags, accompanied by a report of where the fish was caught. The idea is obvious—to learn about wanderings of fish and how fast they grow. Migratory birds are similarly tagged. You might find it interesting to take ruler and map and learn how many miles you are living from the place you were born. Why do we study such things in fish and birds, not in people? The average American used to live generation after generation on the old homestead. Now most of us are wanderers. The system keeps us moving. We are a tramp nation.

Explosive

FLOUR, under certain conditions, is a high explosive. So is dust. Twenty-one thousand manufacturing plants in our country are subject to the dust-explosion hazard, says D. J. Price of the United States Department of Agriculture. Among dusts that have been known to explode disastrously are powdered milk, fertilizer, rubber, soap, spice, cocoa, paper, aluminum and cork.

There won't be any lame backs and aching muscles when our descendants learn how to harness the terrific power locked up in the atoms of dust. The atoms of one ton of coal have enough sleeping energy to blow up the whole earth.

New York

NEARLY 316 million people traveled into or out of New York City last year, says a transit report. A lot of duplications, naturally, nearly two-thirds were commuters or suburban passengers. But the traffic job involved was equivalent to hauling nearly every one in the United States three times. And in and out of just one city. Transportation is our greatest problem—hence our greatest economic weak spot.

The Riddle

By H. IRVING KING

Polly Andrews and Clarence Judson were to be married in the fall. Polly thought the world of Clarence and Clarence thought the world of Polly, and the match was a most suitable one in every respect. Polly was home in Europe with her mother but would be back later in the summer. Meantime Clarence took his vacation at Luxport-by-the-Sea. Now, if there was one thing that Clarence Judson especially prized himself on it was his knowledge of women.

Clarence was an athlete of no mean caliber. Had been on the football team at college and could box as well as some of your so-called professionals.

Willie Carpenter, who was always tagging about with Clarence, looked particularly insignificant beside this favorite of the gods and girls. But not one paid any attention to Willie, anyway. But don't imagine for a minute that there were none who disputed the sway of conquering Clarence. There was George Taylor, a young farmer living five miles away up the Ashville road, a modern farmer, with 500 acres under cultivation, a graduate of an agricultural college, a man of means who drove a high-powered car and had made a trip to Europe. George was a huge fellow physically; mentally he was more so and dictatorial. In his ordinary dress he was an imposing young man, but in evening clothes he was a bore.

About three miles away from Luxport, on the Ashville road, stood a large, old-fashioned country place, occupied during the summer months by Mr. and Mrs. Parkman and ruled over by their daughter, Ruth. There was no sort of a name for Miss Parkman—she should have been called Diana. She was tall, stately, classic of feature, could ride, shoot, run a car and sail a boat. When you saw Clarence Judson and Ruth Parkman together you saw a couple worth looking at—and both Ruth and Clarence were fully aware of the fact.

Ruth mingled a great deal with the hotel people; George Taylor mingled sparingly with them and that, apparently, only that he might not leave Ruth entirely to the monopolizing tendencies of Clarence Judson. In other words, the two youths were rivals and fierce ones at that. Polly Andrews did you say? Oh, well, Polly was in Europe. Ruth was in Luxport. Whether George or Clarence was on duty with Ruth there was always little Willie Carpenter, whose function seemed to be to carry wraps and other impedimenta and to serve as a butt for more or less good natured jokes. Ruth treated him as she would a cat or poodle—kindly but not seriously.

"I really believe that little sawed-off Carpenter is in love with Ruth Parkman," said a lounge on the hotel piazza one day—whereat all his hearers laughed at the manifest absurdity. Whenever George and Clarence met on the piazza of Ruth's home, as they often did, Clarence eyed himself to be particularly brilliant and treated his rival with a punctilious courtesy which had in it an exasperating savor of superiority; while George only growled and glowered hoarsely. That she would marry one of them was a foregone conclusion with the hotel folk, and she distributed her marks of favor so evenly that the summer boarders felt they could make wagers upon the result without danger of being accused of betting on a sure thing.

Clarence bore with Taylor's haughtiness as long as he could; then, one day, decided that the time had come for a showdown. Ruth, who had been making a call at the hotel, proposed to walk home and Clarence proposed to accompany her.

"Come along with us," said Ruth to Willie Carpenter, "the walk will do you good."

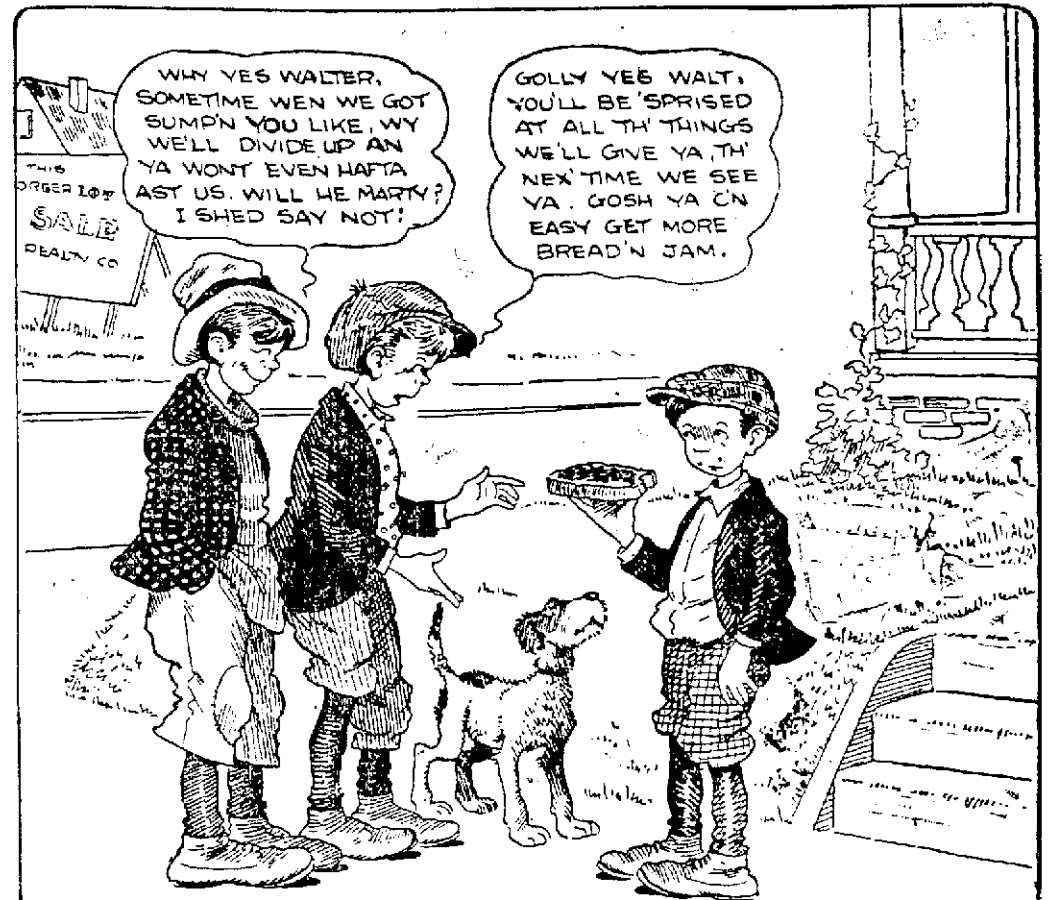

Half way to the Parkman house they met George Taylor, booming along in his big machine. He held up at sight of them and said gruffly to Ruth: "Thought you said you would drive to Ashville with me. I was at the house the time you said 'Why weren't you there?'"

Ruth's color rose. "Are not you rather forgetting yourself, Mr. Taylor?" she said with dignity.

"No," replied George. "I'm just remembering." And he muttered something about "dudes" and "city fellows."

"Carpenter," said Clarence calmly, "I see you are headed for Luxport. If it is with you part of the way, if you don't mind, Willie will you see Miss Parkman home?" Clarence was in the car before the others realized what had happened, and George, after a moment's hesitation, touched the starter.

As soon as they were around a bend in the road Clarence said, sharply, "Stop!" George brought the machine to a standstill. "Now, you unmanly brute," said Clarence, "I'm going to give you a good thrashing."

"Try it," replied George. They left the car and pushing through the underbrush came to a little cleared space among the trees, pulled off their coats and went at it. George fought with all the ferocity of jealous lover and the strength of a powerful physique; but the skill of the trained athlete brought the victory to Clarence. And he had fought all the better because he had caught sight of a fluttering garment in a neighboring thicket, a garment he recognized as belonging to Ruth Parkman!

Surmising what was about to happen, she had cut across lots through that bend in the road—dragging Willie Carpenter with her and concealed in a clump of bushes, had witnessed the combat.

At its close she and Willie had scurried to her home by devious forest paths. Clarence reached the hotel considerably disfigured, but much elated; he knew how much Ruth admired physical prowess; he had done battle for her in the lists; fought under her own eyes and confidently availed his crown from the hands of the queen of love and beauty. He did not appear at dinner; but came down next morning, explaining his battered looks by vague reference to an auto accident. As he sat on the hotel piazza a boy came up and handed him a note. He recognized the handwriting on the envelope; here was his knightly guardian.

"If there were no Polly," he thought, "but there is a Polly," and he tore open the missive. This is what he read:

"Mr. Judson—Your conduct yesterday was outrageous in the extreme. How could you assault Mr. Taylor in such a frightful manner? Can you not comprehend that a young woman of my refinement must object to being made the object of a vulgar brawl? I repeat that your assault on Mr. Taylor was unwarranted and brutal. If you are the gentleman you pretend to be you will apologize both to Mr. Taylor and myself."

Clarence's hands fell helplessly in his lap. He apologized neither to Miss Parkman nor Mr. Taylor, but he took the first train for New York.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

OMINOUS WORDS
BY BERTON BRALEY
There's a prospect most alarming in the thought of motor-touring
And of expending the highways far away from our abodes.
Till amid our contemplation,
We receive the information—
"Heaven help us, they've been 'working on the roads!'"

We can navigate the washes
Where the water whirls and sloshes,
We can chug through dismal marshes
Full of snakes and frogs and toads;

But we raise a doleful chorus
When this terror is before us,
Heaven help us, they've been "working on the roads."

For we know the perils lurking
Where the highway gangs are working,
How they dump the mud in mountain
and the stone in mighty loads;
When no other vision daunts us,
Here's a fear that always haunts us—
Heaven help us, they've been "working on the roads."

Puncture, blowouts, engine trouble
Fret the owner of a bubble,
And he always getting tangled in the local laws and codes;
But there's none of these that teases
Like that awfullest of phrases,
Heaven help us, they've been "working on the roads."

ANNUAL CONTESTS HELD AT ONALASKA SCHOOL ON MAY 12

Country School Children Compete for Scholastic Honors at Agri School

AN ideal May day, with blue skies and warm sunshine, brought the usual crowd of people from all parts of the county for the annual declamatory, spelling and arithmetic contests at Onalaska. Gay groups of picnicers who had come to combine business and pleasure dotted the beautiful grounds of the county school of agriculture.

The spelling and arithmetic contest was held in the forenoon, there being thirteen contestants. The results of this contest were first, Ellen Knudsen, Hamilton; a tie to Milwaukee; second, Evelyn Nelson, Shelby; third, Valborg Steinhilber, Holmen; fourth, Eleanor Olstad, Washington. The judges were M. E. Lyon, normal school; Miss Diamond, county school of agriculture; and Mrs. H. A. McNitt, Onalaska.

Glee Club Sings

After the noon intermission, for lunch the girls' glee club of Bangor, dressed in Japanese costume, favored the audience with several very pleasing selections. The glee club was accompanied by Mrs. Owen Evans at the piano and Miss Jean Brigham with the violin.

The judges for the declamatory and arithmetic contests were M. E. Lyon, La Crosse normal; H. C. Thomsen and Miss Marley, La Crosse high school.

The boys' declamatory contest, in which there were fourteen contestants, was held first. The winners were: Marvin Bartley, Bangor; first, Eldon Moberg, Hamilton; second, Herbert Weingarten, West Salem; third, William Hartley, Campbells; fourth, The girls' declamatory contest, with fourteen contestants, was held next. The prizes awarded were as follows: Marjorie Quail, Bangor; first; Vera Rungo, Burlington; second; Dorothy Clathorn, Holmen; third; Helen Wolf, Burn; fourth.

New Feature

The last contest, the most original, was a new feature, and was an enthusiastic addition to the program. The winners were: Frederick Meyer, West Salem; first; Harry Larson, Burn; second; Bruno Mulder, Holmen; third; Calvin McClellan, Hamilton; fourth.

Ellen Knudsen, Hamilton, by winning first place in the spelling and arithmetic contests, gets a free trip to the state fair at Milwaukee and carries the Doerflinger cup to her school. Her teacher is Miss Eva Ashland.

Marjorie Quail, Bangor, speaking "Which is Afraid?" won the declamatory cup for her school. Teacher, Mrs. Thorstein Vehnemann.

Frederick Meyer, West Salem, speaking "The Union Soldier," won for his school a new cup given by Mrs. Chamberlain and Miss Dundan.

All other children taking part in the contests but not receiving a place, are to be presented with a suitable pin.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, over pimples, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

UNEMPLOYMENT THE NATION'S GREATEST MENACE SAYS HUBER

Urges Job Insurance in Talk at Fond du Lac Mass Meeting Tuesday

MADISON, Wis.—"The unsteady job is becoming America's greatest social menace," said Senator H. A. Huber, Tuesday night at a mass meeting at Fond du Lac. In the interests of the La Follette progressive issues now pending before the state legislature.

Senator Huber is endeavoring to insure the job for the worker. His bill, now before the senate, would require all employers to carry an additional insurable cost so that when industry lays off a man through no fault of his own the worker will be paid a wage of $1 a day until he finds another job.

The senator feels that the bill would induce industry to arrange its business so that unemployment will eventually be done away with. He feels that the business man and the banks are in a very strategic position to stabilize business, and thus prevent booms and unemployment.

VERN WOODEN WILL FACE FRAUD CHARGE IN SUPERIOR COURT

Former La Crosse Man Arrested Here and Taken to Up-state City to Answer Charge

Vern Wooden, sought by the Superior authorities on a warrant charging fraud, was arrested here by Sheriff Lund on Monday and Tuesday afternoon was taken back to Superior by Undersheriff Nelson. Wooden's home is in La Crosse. He left several years ago and took up farming in Douglas county. Some time ago he is alleged to have disposed of his farm and stock, including property on which he had given a chattel mortgage. Sale of this property is alleged to constitute the fraud of which he is charged.

More than 215,000 acres of national forest lands were burned over in 1921.

NATURE BEAUTY OF LA CROSSE CLUB SUBJECT

Miss Marie L'Hommiedieu, National Work Secretary of Y. W. C. A. Addresses Twentieth Century

La Crosse, "the city of trees," and the region of beautiful wild flowers, was the subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Twentieth Century club, held at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday afternoon. Talks were given by Mrs. Florence J. Bunting and Mrs. Elizabeth Irish on the natural beauties of La Crosse, and by Miss Marie L'Hommiedieu, a national secretary of the Y. W. C. A., on "An Investment in Girls." A social hour and picnic lunch followed the meeting.

Mrs. Bunting, one of La Crosse's true nature lovers, spoke of the wild flowers which she knows so well. She described some of the 250 varieties in this locality, their habitat and the places where one can best go to see them. Mrs. Irish spoke of the trees of this region, giving the ways to identify some of them, their location and interesting facts about them. Strangers, she told the club, speak of La Crosse as "the city of beautiful trees."

Miss L'Hommiedieu, director of finance of the central district of the national Y. W. C. A., spoke of the meaning of work with girls and the value of such an organization to the community. Miss L'Hommiedieu is in La Crosse to assist with the "Y" campaign for funds which is to take place next week.

Because of the rain, the club postponed their picnic lunch, which was to have been at Merrick park, at the "Y" rooms. The hostesses were the Mesdames W. S. Woods, J. W. Hanks, T. A. Grover, F. H. Morgan, E. O. Edwards and Miss Florence Shannon, chairman.

BOOK REVIEWS OF THE WEEK
BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK—"West of the Water Tower" is the best novel I have read in months.
The disconcerting way to begin a criticism of book, play or picture is the indirect way. Summarize it. Point out its virtues and its weaknesses. Compare it with other books, plays or pictures. And then give your opinion. The process is reversed in this instance.
"West of the Water Tower" is recommended without hem or haw. It tells a story, it reveals life, without being restricted by the author's viewpoint on any subject. That seems to me to be the essence of good story telling. Too many of our recent books are only excuses for passing isms, complexes and fads.
This book is by an anonymous author. His book is nothing of which to be ashamed. I am sure the author is a man. The book is a man's book.
A correspondent at Wilmington, N. C., recently asked me to say something about "The Dim Lantern," by Temple Bailey. "The Dim Lantern" is fifth on the list of 10 best sellers as compiled by The Bookman. That's "something nice." The novel is advertised as a "clean book."
Six women are among the authors of the 10 best sellers. The other five are Dorothy Canfield, Willa Cather, Gertrude Atherton, "Elizabeth" and Kathleen Norris.
If you're still interested in travel books after reading those discussed last week you may find merit in some of the following:
"Studies in North America" is Cyril Gray's account of travels in a land of "sand that seems to stretch out into infinity; the ruin of three great civilizations; gold also—the glory of the golden haze over the desert and the yellow sand gleaming in the sun-shine."
"Men of the Inner Jungles" is the story of W. F. Alder's visit to the head-hunting Draks in Borneo.
Blair Niles tells of majestic mountains and peaceful valleys in "Casual Wanderings in Ecuador."
Fullerton Waldo sets down his impressions of northern Canada, a land of gold, gushing oil, Eskimos, missionaries and traders in "Down the Mackenzie."
My own selection is Harry L. Foster's "A Beachcomber in the Orient." There is zestful adventure even in following the written account of his visits to Saigon, Bangkok, Singapore and Hongkong.

THE MEMBERS of the Congregation of Our Saviors Lutheran church, Sixth and Division streets, will hold a farewell party for the pastor, Rev. M. G. Magelssen, on Thursday night. Rev. Magelssen has been granted a three months' leave of absence and is leaving for a trip to Norway. He will travel from La Crosse to Norway with the members of the Duluth and Minneapolis Norwegian Glebe clubs.
Rev. H. T. Brann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and Rev. E. O. Vik, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, will speak at the gathering Thursday night and the Ladies' Aid society will serve lunch.
MRS. ALBERT KLEIN, a recent bride, was most delightfully surprised at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank Boardman, 819 Mississippi street, Tuesday afternoon. Supper was served at five o'clock from a prettily decorated table, the place of the bride being marked by a dainty corsage bouquet. Mrs. Will Owen gave a toast and presented the honor guest with an electric toaster from the guests. She also received a set of silver from her grandmother. The bride was further surprised by a shower of small parcels, which were in the nature of jokes, over which they all had a merry time. In the party were Mesdames Walter Atkinson, Amelia Block, Herbert Jaeger, George Knebes, Robert Post, Fred Storch, William Owen, Walter Shepard, Carl Shepard and Carl Roy.
These same ladies surprised Mrs. Walter Shepard at her home, 701 Caledonia street, with a parcel shower several days ago.
THE LADIES' AID society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold its regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the parlors of the church. The hostesses will be Mesdames Nels Sandvik, Herman Kieteka and A. Gobli.
MRS. MINA BORRESSEN will entertain the Thesen club Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Conrad Nelson, 1332 Caledonia street.
THE MEMBERS of the Congregation of Our Saviors Lutheran church will hold their regular meeting Thursday evening by Mrs. Sarah Scoville, 631 South Sixth street, to sew.
ON TUESDAY women golfers met at the Country club for luncheon and spent the afternoon making curtains for the club.
THE CATHOLIC woman's league will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the E. C. club. This will be the last meeting of the year. Miss Cora Desmond and MRS. LISTON BALDWIN and little daughter, Janice, have returned to their home at Wausau after a two weeks' visit at the home of Mrs. Baldwin's husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Baldwin.

AFTER A VISIT of several weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. R. Hickisch, Mrs. Edwin Pick leaves Thursday for her home at West Bend. Mrs. Pick and her husband will be chaperones at the junior prom at West Bend.
MR. PAUL M. PAMPERIN has left for Milwaukee to join his wife, who is visiting her father, Mr. Franklin Pierce Blumenfeld. Mr. Pamperin motored down with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sisson.
THE PAT'S club, a group of young men of the Caledonia Street Methodist church, was entertained by Harold and Ralph Smith at West La Crosse Monday night. Following business a program was given which included a debate, "Resolved, that women have stripes," which was won by the affirmative. In the party were Rev. H. R. Klueter, the new pastor of the church, Miss Myrtle Rangesberg, teacher of the class, and the club members, Masters Bud Johnson, Oswald Anderson, Errol Olson, Wilbert Fluge, Lester Cameron, Hazel Cury, Russell Rader, Raymond, Gage and Robert Stander.
ON SATURDAY morning, May 12, at the parsonage at Home, Rev. J. Kroenemeyer united in marriage Miss Thilo Rozendale and Mr. Frank Van Loon, both well known residents of New Amsterdam. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude Rozendale, and the bridegroom by Roy Rozendale, brother of the bride. The bride wore a gown of white Canton crepe and Spanish lace and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a mauve colored organdy and she carried a bouquet of yellow daffodils and sweet peas.
Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother. The guests, who were all near relatives of the bride couple, were: Messrs. and Mesdames George Bridges and family, Charles Van Loon, John Van Loon and children, and George Cook and son, and Mrs. T. Van Loon.
Mr. and Mrs. Van Loon will reside on the T. Van Loon farm near New Amsterdam.

Household Suggestions
FRYING GREASE
Never put a frying pan or skillet over the flame without first putting in the butter or lard, and do not put your pan over until it is required for use. Frying grease always leaves that unpleasant odor of cooking.
LIQUID YEAST
If you use liquid yeast, remember a cupful is equivalent to about half a cake of the compressed variety or a whole cake of the dry.
GRINDING BREAD
When grinding bread or cracker crumbs put a paper bag over the open end of the food grinder and secure it with a rubber band. This will prevent the crumbs from flying out and littering the floor.
Tastes like more—GONA COFFEE.

CRIPPLES HAVE SPECIAL CLINIC - COMING WEEK
All children or adults who are crippled are to be given an opportunity to be examined and advised by one of the country's best known specialists in orthopedic work. Dr. F. J. Gaenslen of Milwaukee is to hold a free clinic in La Crosse on Friday and Saturday of next week, May 25 and 26 at St. Francis Hospital. The first day under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club, will be for the benefit of children under 14 years and the second day, under the auspices of the industrial rehabilitation department of the state, will be for adults.
Mrs. Melba Rouch Thonet is in La Crosse Wednesday and during the clinic to make arrangements for Dr. Gaenslen. Mrs. Rouch is field worker for the industrial rehabilitation department of Wisconsin and will have her headquarters at the office of the La Crosse Vocational school while she is here.
Anyone wishing to make an appointment with Dr. Gaenslen is requested to call the city health department office, telephone 519, immediately. Dr. Gaenslen's time will be well taken up but every person is to be given a chance to see him if possible, and Miss Viola Nohr of the health department is taking charge of the arrangements for appointments.

MILLER FUNERAL HOME IS OPENED ON PEARL STREET

Modern, Up-to-date Establishment Opened; Visitors' Days Friday and Saturday

A. J. Miller announces the formal opening of the new Miller Funeral Home at 306-308 Pearl street this week. The new home, which has been completely fitted and decorated in the most modern style, is said to be one of the most beautiful and up-to-date establishments of its kind in the state. The home includes the office, a beautifully decorated and furnished reception room, or private room for mourners, the chapel, with seating accommodations for 100 persons, and rest rooms adjoining, a modern operating room, private rooms for preparing bodies for burial, stock closets, a large stock room and wardrobe. Mr. Miller said that the new home will be open for visitors on Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon and evening of this week.

SEMSCH TO HANDLE DECORATIONS FOR RIVER ANNIVERSARY

Carl A. Semsch, window-dresser at Deering's, has been awarded the general decoration contract of the Mississippi celebration at Prairie du Chien, June 16 and 17. He was notified on Monday that he had been chosen to handle the work, which will consist of decorating the streets of the Prairie and arranging and supervising a general scheme of decoration for business houses and residences. Mr. Semsch said that one of the features of the decoration scheme would be the arrangement of historical windows in all of the stores, involving among other things the use of a number of relics of the early days which have been brought out for the occasion by pioneer residents of the Prairie and locality.

TWO CHANGES IN MEASURE VOTED BEFORE RECESS

an income surtax bill, establishing additional schedules of rates on top of the existing income tax. When the bill was introduced by the assembly on May 17, and the measure went to the finance committee, it was discovered that the rates were far too high. At this juncture, Governor Blaine, who the authors of the two tax bills claimed had sanctioned their proposals, came forward with the announcement that he would have a bill of his own. He asked that the finance committee hold back all other tax matters to give his bill precedence.

Dahl Breaks With Blaine
There followed a break between the governor and Speaker Dahl. The controversy was quieted down for a while until the governor's bill came up for action in the finance committee. It was reported first for passage and then after conference to the finance committee was sent back to individual postponement. It is in that form that the proposal now is before the senate.

The governor has marshalled his forces to put the bill through the upper house. While he has not announced his willingness to accept amendments, his leader in the senate, Senator Henry Huber, has let it be known that he will stand for amendments if necessary to save the bill.

Four socialist amendments, one by the finance committee and one by Senator Henry Roethlisberger, are of most importance. The Roethlisberger amendment would restore the personal property tax, five-sixths of which is repealed by the governor's bill. The committee amendment removes the provision in the bill for a one-man tax commission, while the socialist amendments repeal the entire offset, give 70 per cent of the tax returns to the cities, make stock dividends taxable as income and make payment in one lump sum instead of three installments.

Hearings on Other Bills
While Governor Blaine's tax bill was pending in the senate, Senator H. J. Severson and Speaker John L. Dahl went before the joint committee on finance Tuesday to urge their two tax bills once again. These measures have been held in committee since early in March when Governor Blaine asked that all revenue legislation be held up to make way for his proposal.

Both Speaker Severson and the speaker announced material reduction in rates from their original proposal. Senator Severson in his income surtax bill, cut the corporation rate from four per cent to one per cent. Speaker Dahl cut his corporation rate from six per cent to four per cent, and his rate on individual incomes from a maximum of 20 per cent to a maximum of ten per cent.

William H. Alvord, Kenosha; William A. Lecher, Milwaukee; and E. H. Clausen, Horton, appeared against the bill on the statement that they would place too heavy a burden on industry. They claimed the measures were unscientifically drawn and marked by errors.

SURPRISES PROMISED IN THE NEXT COUNT OF SHOP GIRL CONTEST; NARROWED LIST IMPROVES CHANCE

ALTHOUGH the standings in the Shop Girl popularity contest will not be published again until Thursday, the Contest Editor, who is naturally on the inside, doesn't mind slipping out the tip that there are likely to be some more or less startling changes in the list when it does appear.

Some of the girls are evidently mobilizing their friends and getting action, and from now on the contest looks like a real hot one.

Fine Chance for All
It would be a fair contest to hang back and take things easy after this judging by the start which some of the entries are getting. There is, however, a great deal of encouragement in the contest for all those now in it, because the entry list has been narrowed down by withdrawals of candidates for one reason or another until all of those remaining have excellent chances to draw one of the ten handsome prizes that have been hung up. Anyone on the list now, by jumping in and getting her friends busy in her behalf, has a splendid chance of winning. The contest runs until 8 p. m. May 29, which offers plenty of time for any contestant to overhaul the present leaders, none of whom have any substantial margin.

One or two late starters have already done this, and there are surprises in store for those who watch the standings which will be published Thursday.

Sanatorium Fund Grows
Meanwhile the fund for the Good Fellowship Club of Oak Forest Sanatorium is steadily increasing. Every penny contributed for votes for every contestant goes to the Sanatorium patients' club. There are no deductions of any sort for any expenses, because the Tribune and the Majestic theater are shouldering the entire cost and work of the contest. It is all net profit for the sufferers at Oak Forest, and should go a long way to relieve the weary hours of their fight against the white plague, with the interest already shown and increasing.

The contest was started in quest of the most popular shop girl in La Crosse in connection with the film "Only a Shop Girl," which opens at the Majestic May 27.

Here is the list of prizes offered the winners:

1. Choice of a diamond ring or wrist watch offered by E. W. Parker.
2. Spring or summer frock, Fred W. Kruse Co.
3. Choice of any pair of evening pumps and silk hosiery in Rivoli shoe store.
4. Majestic pass good for two people for one year.

BLACK RIVER ACT AGAIN PASSED BY STATE LEGISLATURE

Word "Original" Out of Second Measure, Authorizing County to Repair Banks

The substitute enabling act authorizing the county board of La Crosse county to repair breaks in the banks of the Black river, within the confines of the county, thus retaining all of the water in the river in its present channel, was passed by both houses of the legislature Tuesday.

The new enabling act, which was drawn by District Attorney Gordon for the special black river committee of the county board, composed of Barney Olsen, chairman and Supervisors Goldard and Kaulson, does not contain the word "original." The first enabling act called for repairing the breaks in the banks and restoring the flow of water to its "original" channel. The word "original" caused a protest to be made by supervisors and farmers along the river banks.

It was contended that there was much doubt as to where the original channel was and to find the original channel and divert the water over that course would involve the city and county in lawsuits for damages.

The special black river committee probably will not start work of damming Dodge and Hammond chutes and repairing other breaks until the high water recedes sufficiently so that the brush and stone can be placed properly.

FINDS SKELETON OF WOMAN BELONGING TO EXTINCT TRIBE

SARASOTA, Fla.—Dr. W. A. Henry, noted agriculturist and educator, formerly dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, Wednesday brought here from his winter home at the extreme end of Little Sankey, a well preserved skeleton declared to be that of a woman of the lost tribe of "Abanakis," extinct 700 years, according to scientists.

The Abanakis, the aborigines of this part of the North American continent, were the original mound builders of Southern Florida and were sun worshippers.

The skeleton had been preserved by lime deposits. It was explained. Every tooth was perfect and in place without cavities or trace of decay. The body evidently had been buried in a squatting position.

SHEBOYGAN TO HAVE COMPLETE AIRPORT

SHEBOYGAN, Wis.—Anton Reitz, research engineer for the Kohler company, president of the village of Kohler, has completed his plans for the establishment of an aviation center.

Mr. Reitz left Kohler on a vacation trip in the summer of 1922 and flew back from Chicago in his own airplane, having spent his vacation learning to fly. He has since purchased a second plane and now has two ships in the hangar he has erected at the airport.

The moving spirit of the airport proposals to make Sheboygan one of the recognized aviation stations of the United States. He has completed the hangar for the housing of his own and visiting planes and has provided a fully equipped service station for aviators.

GOVERNMENT AFTER RUM RUNNING FLEET ON ATLANTIC COAST

Eight Warrants Issued Charging Conspiracy to Violate Prohibition Laws

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—The government, which announced Tuesday plans to smash a rum gang alleged to be operating liquor fleets from Miami to Boston, Wednesday obtained eight federal warrants charging conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, and defraud the government of customs duties. More warrants, it was announced, will be soon sought.

One of the warrants was issued for Alfred Ernst Coras of Uniontown, Pa., alleged to be the super-cargo of the British steamer Yanktown which put into this port Tuesday out of food and fuel. It was from the captain and the crew of the Yanktown that United States Attorney Haywood's office claimed to have learned of the manner in which the rum fleets were operated. Another warrant named Charles T. Cox of Brooklyn, a tow-boat captain.

Charles W. Johnson of Philadelphia; Jacob A. Kirch, Nathan Scheraga, Abraham Scheraga and Harry L. Marks, all of New York, and Edward A. Flanagan of New York and Washington were the other defendants.

SCHOOL OFFERS BIG REWARD FOR LIGHT ON MOUNT MYSTERY

Students in Mass-meeting Vote Confidence in President and Score Probe Methods

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—A reward of $10,000 was offered Wednesday by the trustees of Northwestern university at the request of Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of the institution, for definite information that would clear up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Leighton Mount, a freshman who disappeared September 21, 1921, after a class rush.

Throughout two inquiries, that conducted by the staff of Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, and the grand jury since the finding of a skeleton, accepted by authorities as that of Mount's, three theories have been advanced: murder, voluntary disappearance and suicide.

The investigation apparently has become a tangled network of testimony, witnesses contradicting each other and what seemed to be promising leads failing to result in tangible evidence after a thorough investigation.

Vote Confidence in Scott

Eight hundred students of Northwestern university at a chapel meeting called by the student council Wednesday unanimously adopted a resolution of unqualified support of and confidence in President Walter Dill Scott and expressing disapproval of methods of investigation of the disappearance of Leighton Mount, a freshman in 1921.

The resolution was drawn up by the student council and presented by James Patterson, an athlete and popular student.

In a short address, Patterson declared that the administrative officers and the student body were being "unhinged, lied about and severely censured" when beyond all doubt all that the university sought was the truth in the case and that an effort was being made to make President Scott a victim.

THURSDAY, SUNDAY WILL BE GALA DAYS FOR LA CROSSE NORSE

Norwegian Independence Day, May 17, Celebrated With Dance; Singers Here Sunday

Thursday and Sunday will be gala days for La Crosse Norwegians. On Thursday, May 17, the Norwegian independence day, the sons of Norway will celebrate with an old-time dancing party at the K. P. hall. The same evening, beginning at 8 o'clock Norwegians will tender a farewell party to the Rev. H. G. Magelsen, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church, Sixth and Division streets, in the church parlors, the occasion being the pastor's departure for a tour of Norway and other European countries this spring and summer. The women of the congregation will serve a luncheon.

Sunday evening the Normanna Sankers will be the hosts to the singing societies of Minneapolis and Duluth, who will stop in La Crosse on their way to the national singing society meeting in the east. The local singer and the La Crosse City band will meet the singing societies at the Milwaukee station and escort them to the Chamber of Commerce where a reception and luncheon will be served. In the evening the visiting singers will give a concert in the La Crosse theater. The soloist of the evening will be Julie Mossberg of Chicago.

JABLOWICK DEATH DAMAGE CASE NOW IN JURY'S HANDS

Case Given to them Wednesday Morning; Closing Arguments Started Late Tuesday

The suit for damages for the death of Mrs. Frances Jablowick killed on Liberty street crossing of the Milwaukee railroad on Dec. 2, last year, went to the jury in circuit court Wednesday morning. The plaintiff late Tuesday afternoon and R. S. Cowie made the closing argument. Rodger M. Trump of Milwaukee and Paul W. Mahoney made the arguments for the defense.

Witnesses called by the defense included H. E. Richmond, the engineer, and Louis E. Schollberg, fireman of the switch engine that killed Mrs. Jablowick; A. C. Taylor, Henry J. Harnisch, switchman, and John H. Coughlin, switch foreman; William A. Springer, yardmaster; Nic Weber, night yardmaster. The gist of the railroad men's testimony was that the headlights on the engine and tender were burning and that the bell was ringing; that it was an automatic bell and was ringing all the time. The defense witnesses also said the engine approached the Liberty street crossing from the west, head and first. Witness for the plaintiff had testified that the engine approached from the west rear end first, that there was no light on the tender, and that the bell was not ringing.

INJURY IN ELEVATOR ACCIDENT FATAL TO FEDERAL ATTORNEY

Miller, of Eastern Wisconsin District, Dies from Concussion of the Brain

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Edward W. Miller, U. S. district attorney for the eastern district of Wisconsin, died at 6 o'clock Tuesday night, as a result of complications arising from concussion of the brain, sustained when he was thrown to the floor in an elevator accident in the federal building on May 7. Mr. Miller, who was 39 years old, took office on Feb. 27 last. Mr. Miller's condition had been considered favorable by attending physicians until Tuesday morning when a hemorrhage developed.

Mr. Miller was born in Florence, Wisconsin, on August 8, 1881. His parents moved to Marinette, where he graduated from high school in 1907. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, after which he practiced law in Marinette. He served 8 years as district attorney of Marinette county. He was a republican.

WHITES PRIZE EDITORIAL

EMPIRIA, Kas.—By the Associated Press. The editorial awarded the Pulitzer prize for the best editorial written in 1922 was published in the Emporia Gazette, during William Allen White's controversy with Henry Allen, then governor, over the placing of a strikers' placard in a window of the Gazette office.

The caption of the editorial was "To an Anxious Friend." It defended the right of free speech.

It is gratifying to know that the editorial growing out of the controversy should be awarded the Pulitzer prize, Mr. White said. The whole episode now is as good as a court decision against any limitation of decent, temperate utterances upon any public question in any crisis, however grave, in Kansas. To vindicate that right the paper went into the Gazette window.

WOMAN'S BACK BROKEN

WORTHINGTON, Minn.—Mrs. R. R. Miller of Carter S. D. is in a hospital in a critical condition as the result of an automobile collision. The woman's back is broken, but physicians believe she will recover. The Miller family were en route to St. Paul to attend a family reunion when the accident occurred. Mr. Miller and a little son were thrown about of the car and were not badly injured.

"HITTING the pipe" makes the opium smoker feel like a prince over night, but there's always a "bad time the morning after".

Cracked, re-cooked, blended, "doped" gasolines may for a little while seem attractive, but there's an inevitable reaction in the form of diluted lubricating oils and carbon deposits in cylinders.

Stick to the straight-run stuff — MAGIC — the quality gasoline that's free from kerosenish dregs — the gas that assures you smooth, noiseless firing, saves you from carbon trouble and gives you the biggest value for your money.

"MAGIC" gasoline is the "standard" by which all other gasolines are judged.

Cement prices from U. S. Geological Survey.
Wages, from November (1922) Monthly Labor Review, Bureau of Labor Statistics.

More for Your Money

By measuring things against each other as our grandmothers did when they swapped eggs for calico, we get the clearest idea of values.

Coal and wages make up more than half the manufacturing cost of cement.

The chart above shows price fluctuations for portland cement, coal and wages during the past ten years. In each case 100 is used to represent 1913 figures, by the Government departments which compiled these statistics.

Translated into "eggs and calico" language this chart shows that a ton of coal would buy nearly twice as much cement in 1922 as in 1913. A day's wages also would buy more cement in 1922 than in 1913.

This means that even though coal and wages make up more than half its manufacturing cost, cement is now relatively lower in price than either coal or wages.

ANTI-JAP RIOTS IN CHINA BRING JAPAN GUNBOAT

Starts When Students Board
Jap Steamer to Enforce Boycott

SHANGHAI.—Several persons were killed on Tuesday and a large number of others injured in anti-Japanese riots at Shanghai, province of Hupeh, when the anti-Japanese demonstrators boarded a Japanese river steamer. A Japanese armored gunboat has been sent at full speed from Hankow to the scene of the trouble.

Advices received indicate that the riot at Shanghai is the culmination of a long series of disturbances in central and west China, growing out of the boycott instituted against Japan when Tokyo refused to abrogate the famous "twenty-one demands" treaty.

Crowds of students and others at Shanghai, enforcing the boycott, boarded the Japanese river mail steamer Tai-ken Maru to ascertain the name of Chinese merchants who had goods aboard from Japanese shippers.

The Japanese gun boat Fushimi, which was stationed nearby, put ashore a landing party. Then a series of riots followed.

U. S. DROPS ACTION AGAINST WISCONSIN MILK CONDENSERIES

WASHINGTON.—The federal trade commission announced Wednesday that it had dismissed without prejudice its complaint against the Holstein Milk Condensing company, Highland, Ill., and some forty-five other condensed milk manufacturers, as interfering respondents. The complaint alleged that the practice of these companies in guaranteeing against price declines was an unfair method of competition.

The intervening respondents included the following from Wisconsin: The Wisconsin Butter and Cheese company, Elkhorn; Wisconsin Condensed Milk company, Burlington; Wisconsin Dairy Products company, Waukesha; Lake Milk Condensed Milk company, Lake Mills; F. C. Mansfield company, Johnson Creek; Danish Pride Milk Products company, Tomahawk; Meyer Condensers, Wausau; Sartorius, Wright and Wagner Dairy company, Beloit; Valerius Evaporated Milk company, Whitehouse; Milk Products company, West Bend; Badger Condensed Milk company, Germantown.

APPLETON MASON TO BUILD NEW TEMPLE
APPLETON, Wis.—The plans for the new Masonic temple which will be built here have been changed so that the building will cost about $195,000 instead of the original cost of $125,000.

The building will be of Norman Tudor type of architecture, and will be an "L" shape with the Tudor tower at the inner corner of the "L". Building operations will start within a few weeks and it is expected that the temple will be completed by next spring.

HE OFFERS SUBSTITUTE FOR SUNDAY COLLECTION PLATE
NEW YORK.—The Rev. John E. Andrews used to have strong opinions about prize fights, prize fights and the sort of people who go to cheer a knockout.

But in his eighty-third year and after a long career as a Methodist Episcopal minister, congressman and reformer he saw the light from the ringside at the Willard Johnson and Firpo-McAniff bouts on Saturday.

"Some of these high toned religious organizations might do well to raise money this way," he said.

GALESVILLE GETS TRAIN SERVICE AFTER PETITION

Connection with the two trains recently restored on the Chicago and North-Western railroad between Marquette, Minn., and Plover, Wis., will be made at Galesville for the branch line to Galesville, beginning today. It is announced by H. T. Yeager, district superintendent. Train No. 22 will leave Thompsonston at 7:15 a. m., connecting with trains No. 503 and 504, and train No. 23 will leave at 2:45 p. m., connecting with trains No. 503 and 504.

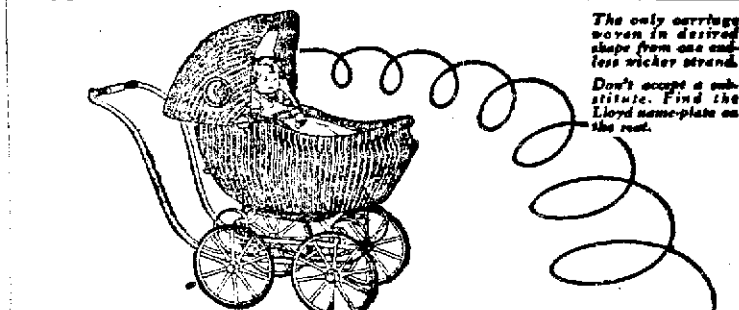

The branch line trains formerly left before the arrival of the two trains which have been restored. Galesville residents petitioned the railroad to change the schedule on the branch line so that they might also receive the benefit of the increased service.

BILL FOR SALARY INCREASE VETOED BY THE GOVERNOR

Blaine Declares Proposal for Constitutional Amendment
Not Properly Submitted

MADISON, Wis.—A bill providing for submission of a proposed constitutional amendment to the people of the state to increase the salary of the governor, was vetoed Wednesday by Governor Blaine on the ground that two former legislatures had failed to comply with constitutional requirements in attempting the amendment.

At the same time the governor took occasion to express himself on various moves to increase salaries. In speaking of this subject he said that "while public officials should be paid reasonable compensation, a state can never expect to compete with private business in meeting salary demands. There are considerations entering into public employment and public service involving advantages that do not obtain with respect to private employment."

"An honorable public record and the rendition of unselfish public service constitute a compensation devoutly to be sought and such will have a permanency long after material gain has ceased to be. Public officials who think only in terms of salary increases lack the proper mental attitude toward public service."

The governor's present salary is $5,000 annually. A number of state employees receive more than he does. It was the contention of the governor that the two houses of the 1919 legislature which originally passed the resolution calling for a constitutional amendment, failed to agree and that as a consequence their action was a nullity. He likewise came to the conclusion that the action of the 1921 session was null, and consequently the proposed amendment could not legally be submitted to the people at the next election.

RANGERS FIGHT FLAMES IN NATIONAL FOREST

DULUTH, Minn.—Considerable valuable timber has been destroyed by forest fires raging in Superior national forest according to reports received here from Duluth, early Wednesday. Men were being rushed to the assistance of a squad of twenty-six rangers who have been fighting the fires.

Several other minor fires were reported. Fire-fighters have been dispatched to combat all of them.

"GIMME"
 "Attention, ladies. Don't look at the camera. Now, register again."
 So the voice of Rupert Hughes, one of America's most popular novelists, rang out when he directed the film activities of nearly a hundred San Francisco society women who served charity by appearing as screen actresses on the lawn of the Charles Templeton Crocker estate at San Mateo.

The film drama in which they are appearing is called "Gimme," and was written by Mr. and Mrs. Hughes. "Gimme" comes to the Majestic Theatre for three days, beginning Thursday.

CASINO TODAY
 "Too Much Business," which will be shown at Casino Theater today, is an adaptation of the Saturday Evening Post story by Earl Derr Biggers, author of "The Seven Keys to Baldpate," and other Broadway successes.

The cast includes such well known players as Edward Horton, who makes his first appearance upon the screen after a long and successful career in dramatic stock. Ethel Grey Terry plays opposite Mr. Horton. Tully Marshall was born in Nevada City, California, and became an actor, manager and producer of stage productions.

"RUSTLE OF SILK"
 Anna Q. Nilsson and Cyril Chadwick are two of the quartet of principals in Herbert Brenson's first production for Paramount, "The Rustle of Silk," in which Betty Compson and Conway Tearle are featured, and which comes to the Rivoli Theatre today.

Miss Nilsson has been a featured member of the casts of several recent pictures, including "Pink Goddess" and Cecil B. DeMille's "Adam's Rib." She plays the role of Lady Pea in the screen version of Cosmo Hamilton's novel.

Mr. Chadwick is cast as Paul Chalfente in "The Rustle of Silk."

RIVIERA THURSDAY
 The skipper of a whaling vessel is a character who has many a veteran seaman often have had cause to remember. So it happens that when Raymond McKee went aboard the old time whaling vessel, "Charles W. Morgan," used by Elmer Clifton in the filming of his W. W. Harrison special, "Down to the Sea in Ships," which comes to the Riviera Theatre Thursday he was not only obliged to sign "ship's papers," but he was also entirely lost his identity, it being an unenviable tradition of the sea that there are no "passports" on board.

Puget Sound—WHERE THE Mountains meet the sea

On the shores of Puget Sound, America ends and the Orient begins. The ships come in all stained with the colors of the seven seas, and the brave young cities are ringed about with mountain crests that are touched with eternal snow. This is, indeed, the Charmed Land, and if you have never visited it, now is your opportunity. Fares for the round trip over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul are low this summer. The "Milwaukee" route is northerly and cool, and through the mountains is "electrified." That famous transcontinental train, "The Olympian," carries open observation cars in summer, and your view is unobscured by cinders, smoke or soot. The entire journey is smooth and swift and jarless, over the most progressive railroad in the world.

SCENE FROM "TOO MUCH BUSINESS"
 One of the most amusing scenes in the new Vitaphone comedy "Too Much Business" is the office love affair. John Henry Jackson and Ray Gorman are rivals for the hand of Myra Dalton, the business-like but beautiful private secretary. John Henry "says it with flowers," and Gorman woos by presenting Myra with an article entitled "Let Your Life Affairs Be Strictly Business." Which wins? Why, the flowers, of course.

POLICE BREAK UP MEETING CONDUCTED BY UPTON SINCLAIR

Author Interrupted by Officers While Reading Preamble to Constitution

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—An attempt by Upton Sinclair, author, to conduct an outdoor meeting at Liberty Hall Tuesday night, by reading aloud the preamble to the constitution of the United States, was interrupted by Chief of Police Louis F. Oakes, who broke up the gathering and escorted Sinclair and three companions to a waiting automobile and the machine was rolled away to a destination unknown early Wednesday.

The action of Chief Oakes came as a climax to efforts by Mr. Sinclair, his brother-in-law, Hunter Kimbrough, Prince Hopkins and Hugh Hardyman to obtain a permit from the Los Angeles authorities to conduct a meeting at Liberty Hall, where assemblies were postponed since the strike of the marine transport workers, branch of the Industrial Workers of the World, has been underway.
